They sold their souls for their daughters' goals!

Satan cuts a deal with a pair of back-stabbing American mothers who will stop at nothing to make sure their little princesses succeed on the soccer field in a satire that mocks America's desperate lust to succeed and "win" at all costs.

Written by Sirius Radio's John DeVore and directed by Kennedy Center Award-winner Glory Sims Bowen.

DeVore's writing is rich and full of unexpected touches... a gifted writer... extraordinary and evocative." (Nytheatre.com)

"Quite nasty, funny, distinctly Molière-esque and essential viewing" (Time Out, New York)

"Smart... flashes of real emotion between the badda-bings." (New York Times)
